

A Thousand Years

Lyrics by Jonathan Patton

I started to bleed again today
If I could make this right I'd find a way
To see your face, to touch your hair
And every kiss that we once shared

Am I worth loving?
Am I just a cut up boy with a dream?
Am I worth forgiving?

Darling...
Stay with me I scream
I'm so afraid to die alone
And all I wanted to be was your hero
Hold on... my love... hold on...

I hardly sleep but when I do
In every dream I am with you
And now the only time that I feel loved
Gets ripped away when I wake up

So...
Stay with me I scream
I'm so afraid to die alone
And all I wanted to be was your hero
Hold on... my love... hold on...

Cause I would wait a thousand years
Just to know that you'll be here
And I would cry a thousand tears
Just to feel you in the air

I would wait a thousand years
Just to know that you'll be here
And I would cry a thousand tears
Just to feel you in the air

Darling...
Stay with me I scream
I'm so afraid to die alone
And all I wanted to be was your hero
Hold on... my love... hold on...
